My lenovo laptop horiontal line problem
Posted by lenovoadmin - 06 Jan 2017 08:17

————————————————————————

Horizontal lines are often LCD display problems with the driver chips and/or the screen got a hit on the edge breaking the fragile connections to the driver chips.

In any case the panel assembly will likely need to be replaced. You can verify this by connecting to an external display if the external display image is not distorted then you know its the LCD display.

==