Lenovo Laptop Keypad Repair: Laptop Store provides laptop keyboard repair & replacement services for all laptop brands & models, including Apple. Our laptop keyboard repair technicians can replace missing or broken keys. We can troubleshoot stuck or non-operational keys to determine if a cleaning can resolve the issue, or if the entire keyboard needs to be replaced.

Laptop keyboard repairs are very common. Many laptops have keyboards that are not too difficult to replace, but others have the unibody style, and the entire motherboard, or logicboard and all other parts need to be removed to replace the keyboard. Of course repairing or replacing your laptop keyboard depends on why your laptop keyboard is not working to begin with. Perhaps the keys fell off, nothing appears on the screen when a key is pressed or maybe water just spilled all over your keyboard. Newer laptop keyboards may have a spill resistant aspect which prevents the liquid from seeping into your laptop and causing more damage while others do not and a spill can cause more damage than just a ruined keyboard, none the less, replacement is the solution. If the keys fell off it's more cost effective to replace the entire keyboard while replacing the keyboard flex cable may resolve a non-performance issue. For laptop keyboard repair it may be best to leave it to an experienced computer repair technician.
